Provincial Chapters

IPSPI strengthens the capacity of its members ; conducts research and development of social work theories; and organises social work competency certification; provides protection and assistance to its members' practices; promotes members' welfare; plays an active role in social change and development, and build partnerships with various professional organisations within the framework of social work practice towards attaining social welfare and social justice.

"Social work is a practice-based profession and an academic discipline that promotes social change and development, social cohesion, and the empowerment and liberation of people. Principles of social justice, human rights, collective responsibility and respect for diversities are central to social work. Underpinned by theories of social work, social sciences, humanities and indigenous knowledges, social work engages people and structures to address life challenges and enhance wellbeing"

IPSPI establishes the Code of Ethics for Social Workers as ratified by the Social Workers congress, and administers the professional oaths and registration; and compiles the Social Worker competency standards.
