

IFSW United Nations Commission

Main area of work at the UN: Children's Rights and Protection

Short description of work at the UN:

My name is Pascal Rudin, I'm a social worker and sociologist and am dealing with social, cultural and economic components of contemporary constructions of childhood. As a representative to the United Nations in Geneva, the advancement of human rights of the child designates the core of my commitment. Health, education and foster care of children form my priorities, both in research as well as in advisory functions. I am committed to social work practice which holds up the human rights of the child.