To IFSW-AP election committee,

We are honored to recommend Mr. Liu Jing, vice president and Secretary General of the China Federation of Social Work, for his nomination as the vice president of Asia Pacific region of International Federation of Social Workers.

Mr. Liu Jing, born in 1960, joined China Federation of Social Workers in 2007 as vice president and now is both the Secretary-General and vice president of our association. Over the past decade, Mr. Liu has been committed to the promotion and development of social work, and has made positive contributions to the development of social work in China.

Since 2010, Mr. Liu has launched Chinese social work annual conference, which is the annual grand ceremony of Chinese social work industry. In 2014, Mr. Liu raised fund and collaborated with the Open University of China to establish a industrial school – The Open University of China Social Work college, carrying out academic and non-academic education for social workers in China. In 2016, started “Seeds Plan” to train social work professions for poorer regions.

In 2017, Mr. Liu led the Chinese Federation of Social Work to hold the 24th Asia pacific regional conference, which promoted social work and social workers to a greater extent in china, also gave the international community an opportunity to better understand Chinese social work.

In 2020, as soon as the coronavirus outbreaks, Mr. Liu organized CASW to lead social workers to join the fight against virus and at same time, he started to raise fund and medical supplies to support front-line workers. Mr. Liu played an important role in leading social workers in prevention and control of the epidemic.

For more than a decade, Mr. Liu has been working tirelessly for the development of social work in china.

In view of Mr. Liu Jing’s contribution and influence in the social work industry, we nominate and recommend him for the position of vice president of International Federation of Social Workers Asia Pacific Region. If the nomination succeeds, Mr. Liu will work and play a greater role on a larger stage, continue to promote social work development in china and other countries in the Asia pacific region. He will strengthen communications between member countries within the region and with other regions under International Federation of Social Workers, promote social work to better serve human society, and the sustainable development of people, community, and environment.
