

Global Student Conference

A STUDENT CONFERENCE TO COINCIDE WITH SOCIAL WORK DAY AT THE UN

Concept Note

Social work promotes social change, development, cohesion, empowerment, and liberation of people and the planet. This profession's values and principles revolve around care, ranging from coping with family struggles, advocating for human rights, to changing international policy for environmental justice. Specifically, youth activism has been at the forefront of all efforts of change.

This event will highlight how the pandemic has impacted millions of livelihoods, perpetuated and exposed deep inequalities, and ultimately has created a global delay to achieving the 2030 Sustainable Development Goals. Youth have the voice to create change and this event will showcase the extraordinary efforts of power that are leading towards sustainable solutions for our future - for a healthy, eco-social world.
