

International Federation of Social Workers
Fédération Internationale des Travailleurs Sociaux
Federación Internacional de Trabajadores sociales

Nominations are open for the Award in Memory of Andrew Mouravieff-Apostol (Andy)

The International Federation of Social Workers is pleased to invite nominations of candidates to receive the Award in Memory of Andrew Mouravieff-Apostol.

The Award in Memory of Andrew Mouravieff-Apostol is IFSW's highest level of recognition and is presented at the IFSW General Meeting. The award can be awarded to an individual or organisation that has stimulated the further development of international social work. Candidates can be either an individual or organisation.

1. Eligible candidates must, over time, have made an outstanding contribution to the social work profession on an international level and thereby enhanced our visibility.
2. The recipient must have shown enterprise and initiative as well as dedication to the profession. The contribution must have transcended international borders and reflected social work values.

Nominations are made at the National level, endorsed by the National Association of Social Workers and presented to the regional executive for scrutiny before recommending to the Global Executive Committee. The Global Executive Committee reviews and shortlists nominees for consideration by the steering group. The steering group shall consider 3 nominees, the awarding Committee is the Steering Committee and a previous recipient.

- Nominations should include a summary of the candidates working history. A statement addressing the criteria listed above must accompany the nomination.
- Any individual, group, or organization can submit a nomination for the award. Self-nominations are welcomed.
- All submissions are considered copyrighted with copyright owned by those submitting.

Eligibility for global contributions to the social justice aims and objectives of Social Work

Eligible candidates must, over time, have made outstanding contributions to social justice aims and objectives of social work.

International Federation of Social Workers
Fédération Internationale des Travailleurs Sociaux
Federación Internacional de Trabajadores sociales

Nominations are made by the National Association of Social Workers or officials of the Federation and presented to the global executive for a majority decision.

- Nominations should include a summary of the candidates working history. A statement addressing the criteria listed above must accompany the nomination.
- Any individual, group, or organization can submit a nomination for the award. Self-nominations are welcomed.
- All submissions are considered copyrighted with copyright owned by those submitting.

Award Timeline

- Submit your nomination to global@ifsw.org
- Deadline for nominations will be 2nd May 2022

Andrew "Andy" Mouravieff-Apostol

Dr Andrew "Andy" Mouravieff-Apostol, IFSW's Secretary-General from 1975 to 1992 and later Honorary President died in Geneva on 13 August 2001. He communicated with social workers of all countries with warmth, knowledge and diplomacy and became like a father to the international social work community.