

Kelsey Wills

Kelsey Wills is a student representative for the International Federation of Social Workers and is a current advanced-standing graduate student at Monmouth University's School of Social Work. She obtained her bachelor's degree in Social Work from Liberty University, Virginia. She is pursuing a master's degree in Social Work with a concentration in Global and Community Practice. Her professional and research interests are in migration, film aid, indigenous rights, children's rights and education, and women's rights.