

Karina Andrea Mancini is an Argentine social worker and Regional Representative for Latin America and the Caribbean to the IFSW UN Commission. Her work combines professional practice, regional networks and advocacy spaces within the United Nations system, strengthening the voice of Latin American social work in the global agenda.

She specialises in violence and harassment in the workplace, holistic occupational health, sexist violence and care, promoting a human rights and gender-based approach. She has participated in processes and forums convened by the International Labour Organization (ILO), Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC), UN Women, UNESCO, and the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW), contributing to the development of safer and healthier working environments.